

Don't stifle Innovation with heavy HR. Be lean. And successful.

When a business is on a growth trajectory, a slick team of ten can very quickly become a chaotic team of 50. This is when businesses make the mistake of employing an HR Manager.

Traditional HR practices focus on transactional services and policy development, rolling out approaches designed for large corporates not fast-growth businesses. This heavy approach to HR stifles innovation and slows the business down.

Guided by people and performance expert Dr Zivit Inbar, DifferenThinking's LEAN HR advisory is grounded in start-up culture. Through a flexible service model, we help you avoid bureaucracy and build the right HR infrastructure for growth.
